Fifth Conversation

Leadership—Challenge and Change

Summary

In the fifth conversation, we dive into the idea of leadership in light of the mission of the church. Our ideas of leadership, often offered to us as the work of other people: the ones called to it: puts us in a mind to miss the importance of the moment ourselves while waiting on others to rise to the challenge.

For those reading along, our four conversation partners for this week are all recognized leaders of dioceses or seminary: Jeffrey D. Lee, Sarah Birmingham Drummond, C. Andrew Doyle, and Robert Wright. They invite us to explore how our mission is embodied by our leadership, what conversations about change are essential for our future, and how leadership cannot be seen as exclusively emanating from the top.

Question for This Week

1. What has the Covid pandemic taught us about the leaders and structures we have—and the leaders and structures we need?
